

we're all god's children

by Eve

when I was the mother of three little boys I witnessed tussles, disputes, fights over toys

I told them again and again there's always enough blame to go 'round instead of making accusations let's find a solution

instead of asking who's wrong let's ask who's been hurt how do each of you feel for what does each of you wish let's look for a way to move forward let's ask what each of us can do to fix the problem together and prevent this untenable situation from happening again

I think the same now for Israelis and Palestinians haven't enough children learned to hate

haven't enough children died truly is there anyone who doesn't wish for peace

Isn't now
time for the promised
